2. QUALITY OF MERCY – WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

(Memorization)

The quality of mercy is not strain'd;
It droppeth as the gentle rain from heaven
Upon the place beneath. It is twice blest:
It blesseth him that gives, and him that takes.
'Tis mightiest in the mightiest; it becomes

The throned monarch better than his crown.
His sceptre shows the force of temporal power,
The attribute to awe and majesty,
Wherein doth sit the dread and fear of kings;
But mercy is above this sceptred sway;

It is enthroned in the heart of kings;
It is an attribute to God himself;
And earthly power doth then show likest God's
When mercy seasons justice.

O say what is that thing call'd light,
Which I must ne'er enjoy.
What are the blessings of the sight,
O tell your poor blind boy!

You talk of wondrous things you see,
You say the sun shines bright;
I feel him warm, but how can he
Or make it day or night?

My day or night myself I make,
When'er I sleep or play;
And could I ever keep awake
With me 'twere always day.

With heavy sighs I often hear
You mourn my hapless woe;
But sure with patience I can bear
A loss I ne'er can know.
Then let not what I cannot have
My cheer of mind destroy;
Whilst thus I sing, I am a king,
Although a poor blind boy.

PASSAGE COMPREHENSION

A SAMPLE PASSAGE

EXAMPLE- 1

Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow:

1. Punctuality is a habit which must be cultivated by every cultured person. It is the mark of civilization and culture. It has been rightly called as the 'soul of businesses. In our daily life, we have to attend to various types of business. This brings us in contact with other people. We hardly realize that in being late, how much annoyance and worry unnecessarily is caused to others. Nelson the philosopher used to say that he owes his success to punctuality in his life. If a man has various duties to attend to, he must be punctual. Otherwise, his life will be a failure. It is not easy thing to be punctual. It requires a man all the energy to regulate his life, if he wants to be punctual in every business. Unpunctuality invites trouble and worry. A man who is punctual and keeps his appointment, is sure to be held in high esteem by others. Everyone has confidence in him. Everyone trusts him because he keeps his word.

a. Why is punctuality necessary?

b. Why do people respect one who is punctual?

EXAMPLE-2

Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow:

In every country, people imagine that they are the best and the cleverest and others are not so good as they are. The Englishman thinks that he and his country are the best. The Frenchman is very proud of France and everything French. The Germans and Italians think no less of their countries and many Indians imagine that India is in many ways is the greatest country in the world. This is wrong. Everybody wants to think well of himself and his country. But really there is no person without positive and negative qualities. In the same way there is no country which is not partly good and partly bad. We must take the good wherever we find it and try to remove the bad wherever it may be.

We are of course, most concerned with our country, India. Unfortunately, this is the idea becoming prevalent in recent days. Most of our people are poor and unhappy. They have no joy in their lives. We have to find out how we can make them happier. We have to see what is good in our ways and customs and try to keep it, and whatever is bad we have to throw it away. If we find anything good in other countries, we should certainly take it.

a. What should we do to make our people happier?

b. What do people think about themselves and others in every country?

EXAMPLE: 3 (FOR PRACTICE)

Jawaharlal Nehru, our former prime minister, had time and again emphasized that India must try to bring about a socialistic pattern of society. But we may ask what this 'Socialistic pattern of society means?' Is it just another name for communism? The answer is no.

There is a vast difference between the Russian notion of communism and our ideal of socialist pattern. In Russia, every form of enterprise is in the hands of the government. Whereas, in India, individuals will always be allowed to carry on private business. We hope to bring about this new socialistic pattern slowly and steadily. It will be a kind of 'bloodless revolution'.

a) What is the difference between the socialistic pattern and Russian communism?

b) What did Jawaharlal Nehru told us again and again?

EXAMPLE: 4 (FOR PRACTICE)

After his return from Africa, Gandhiji founded an ashram in Gujarat. The ashram was open to all people, provided they were prepared to lead a simple life and work with their hands. Gandhiji encouraged people to spin their own cloth. In those days some people were considered to be untouchables as they belonged to lower castes. Gandhiji admitted these people into his ashram, lived with them and ate with them. He called them 'Harijans' which means 'people of God'. He said that all men are made equal and there should be no differences.

a) How do we know that Gandhiji did not treat some people as untouchable?

b) According to Gandhiji, why should there be no differences among men?

Respected Sir,

Sub: Request to provide more buses.

I am the resident of Gopal nagar. There are more than a hundred families living in this area. There are about sixty college going boys and girls, many people are going to the town for jobs and business. There is only one bus running between Davanagere and our area. We find it very difficult to reach the town in time. Sometimes the bus does not come at all. So, on behalf of the residents of this extension area, I humbly request you to provide two more buses to our area. I hope your kindness will do the needful.

Thank you.

Yours faithfully,
Jyothi Prakash.

1. A HERO – R. K. NARAYAN

TWO MARK QUESTIONS:

1. Swami's father read a newspaper report about a village boy who came face to face with a tiger while returning from the jungle path. He had a fight with the tiger. Then he climbed the tree and stayed there for half a day till some people came that way and killed the tiger.
2. After reading the newspaper, Swami's father told his son that a boy fought with the tiger. Swami asked his father, "How could a boy fight a tiger". He told him that the person who fought with the tiger must be very strong and grown-up.
3. Swami told his father that they are going to admit even elders in their cricket club and buying brand new bats and balls. He also told that he will sleep from the first of next month and stated that there might be scorpions behind the law books. But his father insisted him to sleep in the office room.
4. As the night advanced and everything became quiet, Swami's heart began to beat faster. He remembered all the stories of devils and ghosts he had heard. He was filled with fear and every moment he expected the devils to come up to carry him away.
5. When Swami saw something moving in the room, he was filled with horror. He imagined that it was the devil that would pull him out and tear him into pieces. He decided to save himself and as the figure came nearer, he crawled out of the bench, caught hold of it and dug his teeth into it.
6. Swami's classmates looked at him with respect. His teachers patted his back. The headmaster said that Swami was a true scout.
7. Congratulations were showered on Swami because he accidentally caught the notorious burglar of the district whom the police were looking for.
8. Swami replied that he would certainly join the police when he was grown up. Swami was not willing to join the police because he had no courage. He wanted to choose one of these professions like becoming an engine driver, a railway guard or a bus conductor.

EXTRACTS

1. "Our captain has asked me to tell you."

- a. The word 'me' refers to Swami.
- b. The cricket club was going to admit even elders as members and the club would buy brand new bats and balls.
- c. When father told Swami to sleep alone in his office room.

2. “Let me see if you can sleep alone tonight in my office room.”

- a. Swami’s father is the speaker.
- b. The speaker asked Swami to sleep alone in the office room.
- c. To prove that Swami has courage.

3. “Will you at least leave the door open?”

- a. The speaker asked his father.
- b. He was afraid of the darkness, devils and ghosts.
- c. The speaker accepted it and told Swami not to roll up his bed and sleep beside his grandma.

4. Granny pleaded, “Why do you disturb him?”

- a. Granny pleaded to Swami’s father.
- b. When Swami’s father asked his son to get up from the bed and sleep in his office room.
- c. The word ‘plead’ means to ask for something in a serious and emotional way.

5. “If you do it, I will make you the laughing stock of your school”.

- a. This was said to Swami.
- b. ‘It’ refers to Swami’s sleeping beside his granny or his mother every day.
- c. Swami’s father threatened him that he would tell all his friends at school that Swami sleeps beside his granny or mother always and he is afraid of darkness.

6. “He wished that the tiger had not spared the boy.”

- a. Swami wished this.
- b. Swami was upset and frightened because his father had asked him to sleep alone to prove that he was courageous.
- c. Swami would not have been asked to sleep alone in his father’s office room.

7. “Something was moving down”

- a. The Devil
- b. It was not a devil but a burglar.
- c. Swami thought that his end had come.

8. “He lay gazing at it in horror. His end had come.”

- a. According to him ‘it’ was the devil
- b. He hugged it with all his might and used his teeth like a mortal weapon and bit it.
- c. He thought that he was going to die. / The devil would kill him.

9. “No wonder he wanted to be asleep before I could return home. Clever boy!”

- a. Swami slept beside his grandmother before his father returned.
- b. Swami still did not have the courage to sleep alone. He was afraid that his father would force him to do so.
- c. No, Swami’s father was not angry with him.

10. “All right molly coddle and spoil him as much as you like”

- a. Swami’s father made this statement.
- b. The word ‘you’ refers to Swami’s mother.
- c. Swami used to sleep beside his granny. His mother and granny did not encourage him to be courageous by making him sleep alone.

THREE MARK QUESTIONS

1. Swami was forced to sleep alone in his father's office room. His father wanted him to be courageous by sleeping alone and not be afraid of darkness. When he slept alone, there was absolute silence and in spite of it, some noises reached Swami's ears. Swami was frightened and spread his bed under the bench and slept there, as it was safe, compact and reassuring. He was racked with nightmares. A tiger was chasing him and he tried to escape and the nightmare continued. He groaned in despair. He put his hand out to feel his granny's presence but he touched the wooden leg of the bench. When he felt something was rustling and moving he thought his end had come. He thought that the devil would pull him out. Before it could reach him, he hugged it tightly and used his teeth on it like a mortal weapon. The burglar cried in pain. His father, cook and servant rushed into the room. All of them caught the burglar and handed him over to the police. Thus Swami became a hero overnight.
2. Swami did not like the idea of sleeping alone in his father's office room, so he tried to divert his father's attention by talking about the latest news of his cricket-club. When his father did not listen to him he told him that he would sleep there from the first of next month. When his father did not agree to that, he silently tiptoed to his bed, pulled the sheet and pretended to be asleep. His father came there and ordered him to follow him to the office room. Swami tried to deter him by saying that there might be scorpions in the office-room but this did not change his father's mind. Finally, he agreed to sleep there on the condition that he would leave the door open as his father had not agreed even to the suggestion of having a lamp-burning in his room for the entire night.

3. GENTLEMAN OF RIO EN MEDIO – JUAN A. A. SEDILLO

2 Mark Questions:

1. Don Anselmo was a man of principles. He was respected by everyone. He planted a tree whenever a child was born in the village. He did not agree to take extra money offered by the Americans for the extra land.
2. The Americans were ready to give extra money to Don Anselmo for the additional land. Though the children of the village over ran their property, they did not blame them, instead they spoke to the children good naturedly. They bought each tree from the real owners. So the Americans were good people.
3. Don Anselmo did not agree to take double the amount for the extra land owned by him. So Don Anselmo was generous. The Americans were buena gente. They bought each tree from their real owners instead of taking legal action against Don Anselmo. Thus the Americans were also generous.
4. Don Anselmo tilled the same land which his ancestors had tilled. Almost everyone in the village was his relative. He had planted a tree for every new born baby in that village. He felt that the trees belonged to the children of Rio en Medio. He told the story teller that he had sold only the land to the Americans but not the trees.

Extracts.

1. “The trees in the orchard are not mine, señor.”

- a. Don Anselmo said these words.
- b. ‘Senor’ is referred to the story teller Juan A. A. Sedillo.
- c. According to the speaker the trees belonged to the children of Rio en Medio.

2. “Don Anselmo”, I said to him. “We have made a discovery”.

- a. The Americans had made the discovery with the help of a surveyor and an engineer.
- b. Don Anselmo owned almost double the land he had mentioned earlier.
- c. Don Anselmo stood up and stared at the story teller and told that he would not accept double the amount.

3. “I argued with him but it was useless”.

- a. Juan A.A. Sedillo, the story teller.
- b. ‘Him’ refers to Don Anselmo.
- c. The Americans were ready to pay extra amount for the extra land and Don Anselmo had to accept it. This was his argument.

4. “That's why I have agreed to sell to them, but I do not care to be insulted.”

- a. ‘I’ refers to Don Anselmo.
- b. He agreed to sell to the Americans.
- c. Because the Americans were good people.

5. One day they came back to the office to complain.

- a. 'They' refers to the Americans.
- b. They complained about the children of Rio-en-Medio.
- c. The children of Rio-en-Medio were overrunning their property and they could not live in peace.

4. Dr. B. R. AMBEDKAR – R. VENKATARAMAN*Two mark Questions:

1. Nehru had recognized Dr. Ambedkar's skills in the field of law and legislation. It was also a tribute to his vision of social justice.
2. Ambedkar bought books by curtailing his daily needs. He had purchased 2000 books when he was in New York. During Second Round Table Conference in London, he bought so many books that they had to be sent to India in 32 boxes.
3. The depressed classes were ill-treated and their condition was miserable. Dr. Ambedkar raised his voice against this discrimination and improved the condition of them.
4. The fourteenth Amendment of the Constitution gave freedom to the Black Americans. Ambedkar saw the parallel of the situation for the Depressed Classes in India. He was also influenced by the life and work of Mahatma Phule, the votary of a classless society and women's upliftment.
5. According to Ambedkar, these methods are necessary in a state which is ruled by foreigners. But in a democratic country, they should not be used as they result in the loss of lives and public property.
6. Ambedkar was tactful and he had an ocean of patience. He had the rare gift of unravelling the most complicated legal concepts in a simple language which the layman understood.
7. Gandhiji reminded the higher castes of their duty towards the depressed classes. Ambedkar reminded them of their inherent rights to equality with the higher and more powerful castes. One stressed the duties, the other stressed the rights.
8. It was because Dr. Ambedkar was a law graduate and had a deep knowledge in law. The Constituent Assembly of India afforded him the opportunity to give the most notable and permanent shape to his social philosophy and to his undying faith in the dignity of human beings.
9. Ambedkar had a clear idea about mutuality of the legislature, the executive and the judiciary. He said that the jurisdiction of each should be clear and untrammelled.
10. The constitution is a fundamental document which defines the position and power of three organs of the state – the legislature, the executive and the judiciary.
11. Dr. Ambedkar had drawn from the examples of other nations and also the distinctive needs of our own society. He raised brick by brick the magnificent edifice which now stands as the Fundamental Rights in our constitution.

12. It was because Dr. Ambedkar explained clearly the meaning and scope of the different provisions of the Draft constitution. He explained the most complicated legal concepts which could be easily understood even by a layman.

Four Mark Questions:

- Ambedkar started the newspapers – 'Mooknayak', 'Bahishkrit Bharat' and 'Samata'. These newspapers were at once recognized as authentic voices of the depressed classes. He set up institutions such as Hithakarini Sabha and The Independent Labour Party of India. These institutions became the vehicles of change. He reminded the Depressed Classes of their inherent rights to equality with the higher and more powerful castes. It is because of all these efforts of Dr. Ambedkar, today the depressed classes occupy important positions in all the three pillars of the state.
- The constitution is a fundamental document which defines the position and power of the three organs of the State – the executive, the judiciary and the legislature as against the citizens. The purpose of a constitution is not merely to create the organs of the State but to limit their authority otherwise there will be complete tyranny and complete oppression. The jurisdiction of each should be clear and untrammelled.
- Ambedkar was a voracious reader not only during his student days but throughout his life. He had an insatiable thirst for books. He bought books by curtailing his daily needs. In New York he is said to have purchased about 2,000 old books. At the time of the Second Round Table Conference in London, he bought so many books that they had to be sent to India in 32 boxes.

2. QUALITY OF MERCY – WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

(Memorization)

The quality of mercy is not strain'd;
It droppeth as the gentle rain from heaven
Upon the place beneath. It is twice blest:
It blesseth him that gives, and him that takes.
'Tis mightiest in the mightiest; it becomes

The throned monarch better than his crown.
His sceptre shows the force of temporal power,
The attribute to awe and majesty,
Wherein doth sit the dread and fear of kings;
But mercy is above this sceptred sway;

It is enthroned in the heart of kings;
It is an attribute to God himself;
And earthly power doth then show likest God's
When mercy seasons justice.

4. THE SONG OF INDIA – V.K. GOKAK

Summary of the poem.

The poem 'Song of India' is written by V. K. Gokak. It is in the form of dialogue. The poet and Mother India are talking to each other. The poet asks Mother India what song he should sing of her. He wants to sing about the snow born Himalayas, the three seas that wash her palms and the clear dawn, but mother India tells him to sing about the beggar and the leper, the filth and the dirt. The poet wants to sing about rock cut temples, epics in stones, of seers and prophets. But mother India tells him to sing of the helpless children born in dark homes and of millions who toil. The poet wants to sing of dam and the lake, the steel mills and the ship-building yard. But mother India asks him to sing of the strikes and iron men. The poet becomes querulous and says that he wants to sing the greatness of our country in the field of science and technology. But mother India rises draped in blue sky with milky white oceans around her. She writes the "Book of the Morrow" which signifies hope and bright future for our country free from the darkness of ignorance.

Two mark questions:

7. THE BLIND BOY – COLLEY CIBBER

Poem for memorization:

O say what is that thing call'd light,
Which I must ne'er enjoy.
What are the blessings of the sight,
O tell your poor blind boy!

You talk of wondrous things you see,
You say the sun shines bright;
I feel him warm, but how can he
Or make it day or night?

My day or night myself I make,
When'er I sleep or play;
And could I ever keep awake
With me 'twere always day.

With heavy sighs I often hear
You mourn my hapless woe;
But sure with patience I can bear
A loss I ne'er can know.

Then let not what I cannot have
My cheer of mind destroy;
Whilst thus I sing, I am a king,
Although a poor blind boy.

SUMMARY:

The poem 'The Blind Boy' is a very touching poem written by Colley Cibber. It describes the feelings of a young blind boy who has never seen light. The speaker of the poem is a Blind Boy. He is curious to know what that thing is called light. He doesn't understand the concept of day or night. He also wishes to know the blessings of sight. He says people talk of wonderful things they see in the world like the brightness of the sun, but he feels only the warmth of the sun. He wonders how the sun can make day or night. For him, it is day when he is awake and active and night when he feels sleepy. He often hears the people pitying him for his blindness but he doesn't feel sorry for himself. He is not worried about the things he doesn't have. He doesn't want to make himself unhappy for the things he doesn't have or the things he cannot get. He enjoys his life as a cheerful blind boy. With the optimistic attitude he sings cheerfully and feels himself as a king even though he is a poor blind boy.

Figures of speech:-

1. I feel him warm, but how can he make it day or night? – Personification

Forests are the lifeline of our planet earth. They are our national wealth.

1. They provide Five F's – food, fodder, fertilizer, fuel and fiber.
2. They provide valuable timber, medicinal herbs, sandalwood, etc.
3. They provide home and shelter to animals and birds.
4. They help in maintaining the ecological balance.
5. They help in maintaining the temperature at a lower level.
6. They help to prevent soil erosion.
7. They help to prevent landslides.
8. They regulate the climate and help to hold rain water in the ground.
9. They attract rain.
10. They are rich in flora and fauna.
11. They minimize the negative impact of the environmental pollution.
12. They act as a source of raw materials for many industries.

Progress and welfare of a nation depend on its forest wealth. So we need to bring public awareness for afforestation.

6. National festivals

National Festivals promote national integration. Our National Festivals are – Independence Day: It is celebrated on 15th August every year. On this day we recall the great contributions of our freedom fighters.

Republic Day: It is celebrated on 26th January every year. India became republic on this day in 1950.

Gandhi Jayanthi: It is celebrated on 2nd October every year. It is celebrated in the memory of Mahatma Gandhiji.

Teacher's Day: It is celebrated on 5th September every year. It is celebrated in memory of Dr. S. Radhakrishnan.

Children's Day: It is celebrated on 14th November every year. It is celebrated in memory of Jawaharlal Nehru.

We need to celebrate the national festivals to inculcate in the minds of the young and old, love for the country.

7. Importance of Sports

Sports not only serves a break from study routine, but also helps a student remain healthy – physically and mentally.

- * Sports can play a vital role in the proper and harmonious development of the students.
- * It refreshes the mind, clears the irritated intellect and pours into life vigour and enthusiasm.
- * It can help children to bloom by driving away lethargy, monotony and activate the organs.
- * It helps in the development of a sound mind in the sound body.
- * It inculcates the precious spirit of discipline, team-spirit, industry and courage.
- * It imbibes the invaluable lessons of leadership, self-reliance, honesty and brotherhood.
- * It teaches the hard truths of failure and success in life.
- * It will cultivate the spirit of self-help, confidence and endurance.
- * It facilitates a dynamic character formation.
- * It increases attention span, concentration and will to succeed.

Sports enable us to have ‘strength in the nerves and vigor in blood’ which is the fountain of joy in life.
