He realised that the jurisdiction of each should be clear and untrammelled. At the same time, he had a sense of the importance of the role of citizens. The following observation he made is significant:

The Constitution is a fundamental document. It is a document which defines the position and power of the three organs of the State—the executive, the judiciary and the legislature. It also defines the powers of the executive and the powers of the legislature as against the citizens, as we have done in our chapter dealing with Fundamental Rights.

Q.IV. Answer the following questions.

4 x 1 =4

9. Write the summary of the poem 'The song of India'.

The poem Song of India was written by Vinayaka Krishna Gokak. It is in the form of a dialogue between the poet and our motherland India. The poet asks Mother India what aspect of his country he should glorify through a song. He wonders if he should sing about the snow-clad Himalayas at the North or the three water bodies at the South. Alternatively, he ponders on singing about the country's historical temples, the Indian soldiers who died fighting for the nation, the country's religious saints and its technologies. However, Mother India requests the poet to sing about the lepers and beggars on her street, the helpless children and other things or people of less importance.

The speaker said our mother India has to write the book of our destiny, cancelling all our sorrow. Tomorrow should be clear dawn. Our nightmare should flee in the night. We have to write our bright future... Through the poem, VK Gokak tries to convey that we must be proud of our tradition, culture, heroes and industrial progress. However, we must not forget the problems such as poverty and unemployment, class and caste conflicts, illiteracy, and ignorance faced by our country. We must strive to eradicate these problems from our motherland.
