Once, it is happened that a lion and a bear were resting not very far from each other. They both chanced to see a strong kid nearby. The great bear rushed to seize the kid from one direction and the lion came towards it from other.

Since both the lion and the bear wanted the prey, they fought savagely for it. In the battle, both received so many wounds that they sank to the ground, as they were too exhausted to continue the contest. Just then the clever fox came by. The fox dashed up, seized the kid in his jaws by his teeth, and whisked off.

The mighty lion and the powerful bear could only watch with helpless rage as a much weaker animal managed to get the prize, which they had themselves set their eyes upon. "It would have been much better," agreed the lion and bear, "to have shared the prey between us ourselves in a friendly spirit, rather than lose it to a third party!"

a) How was the fox able to get the kid?

ANS: The fox was able to get the kid because the lion and the bear fought fiercely over it. Exhausting themselves and becoming too weak to continue. Taking advantage of their condition, the clever fox quickly seized the kid and ran away with it.

Jazz player is silent in speech but eloquent in music. Describe with reference to the poem 'Jazz Poem Two'.

ANS: An old Jazz musician is pathetic figure, but at the same time, a commanding artist. He has the power in him to make people listen his music. He is silent in speech but eloquent in music.

He is standing like a Black Ancient mariner. His old face is wrinkled and weary. His faded blue shirt has turned dark with sweat. His stomach is hanging loosely. His jacket is worn out and his necktie is undone and dropping loosely over the jacket. His shoes are torn and are stuffed with paper to cover the holes. His rough unshaven face shows pain. He stands alone head down, eyes closed and ears perked. An old saxophone hangs across his chest supported from his neck by a wire coat hanger. He gently lifts the saxophone to the parted lips. But once he starts playing music he is no longer a Black man but a bird which gathers his wings and flies high and higher. He seems to be spreading the message of God through his music.

37. a) Importance of 'Yoga' b) Dengue, a fatal disease

c) Importance of trees.

ANS:

a) Importance of 'Yoga'

Introduction:

Yoga is an ancient art discovered in India over 6000 years ago and practised by most people in the olden days. However, with busy lives and tight schedules, yoga has declined.

Yoga is one of the most used methods in mind-body connection. Yoga refers to a type of exercise based on controlled breathing diet exercise and a series of physical postures. Yoga should not be viewed as just a form of exercise. It should be considered a mantra for a healthy, happy, and peaceful life. By practising yoga one can find peace and good health. It is not just an exercise for the body but the mind and soul too. By practising yoga, one can deal with several challenges, including stress and physical ailments. It helps make muscles flexible, reduces weight, and also improves the health of the skin. It helps develop patience and concentration, sharpens memory and brings peace into our lives. June 21 is celebrated as International Yoga Day every year. If one practises yoga every day, they are on the path to leading a well-balanced life.

Yoga is very useful because it helps us to control our mind contribution to health and works as a stress reducer. The term Yoga means union. A yogi's ultimate aim is to attain this union with the eternal self with the help of mental and physical exercise. The entire credit goes to Maharishi Patanjali the founder and father of Yoga.

Conclusion:

Yoga is an art which takes into purview the mind the body and the soul. Today Baba Ramdev is spearheading the Yoga movement to make India and Indians healthy and wise.

c) Importance of trees.

Introduction:

Trees make our environment beautiful and soulful. They help build a healthy community life. A neighbourhood with green and shady trees discharge positive energy and is happier compared to one that lacks greenery.

Trees are extremely important for us. It is because of plants and trees that we are able to survive on this planet. Trees exhale the life-giving oxygen without which it will not possible for the human beings or other species to live. However, this is not the only reason why trees are important for us. They have a lot to offer to the environment as well as the living beings. Apart from giving oxygen, trees also absorb various harmful gases from the environment thereby reducing the effect of global warming.

Trees also provide us food and shelter. Many trees bear the fruits that serve as food for birds and animals. Human beings also relish various fruits such as mango, apple and banana to name a few. The leaves, roots and bark of trees are used to prepare medicines. Trees also provide shelter to animals and humans. Forests filled with huge, dense trees serve as habitat for wild animals and contribute towards rich biodiversity. Wood and other material extracted from trees is used to craft several things that are essential for a comfortable living.

Conclusion:

We must save trees and plant more of them to keep our environment clean and promote a healthier and happier life.
